DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 1-5 and 9-13 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-6 of U.S. Patent No. 6,927,989.

Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims 1-6 of U.S. Patent No. 6,927,989 discloses a transformer having a primary winding and at least one secondary winding; a semiconductor switching circuit which allows a current from a DC power source to flow in first and second directions through said primary winding; a current detecting circuit which detects a current flowing through a load connected to said secondary winding; a triangular signal generating section which generates a triangular signal; a PWM control signal generating section which compares an error signal due to a current detection signal output from said current detecting circuit, with said triangular signal to generate a PWM control signal; and an intermittent operation controlling section which, when an intermittent operation is turned OFF, sets said error signal to substantially zero on the basis of an intermittent operation signal, wherein said semiconductor switching circuit is switched in accordance with said PWM control signal.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 6-8 and 14-16 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
